Marius Øvrebø

Intern Project Manager and Designer @ SATS | Bachelor's in Interactive design, 3D expertise

Oslo, Oslo, Norway

Summary

At SATS, leading design projects marries my passion for interactive design with a commitment to innovation. With a background in both 3D design and animation, my role as projectmanager is to bring concept ideas to life, ensuring each project resonates with technological advancement and aesthetic appeal. My freelance work as a 3D Artist further sharpens my skills in smart manufacturing and 3D modeling, which are crucial in today's design landscape.

Collaboration and a fast-paced learning curve define my professional journey. My freelance engagements have equipped me with a unique versatility, enabling me to visualize and execute complex designs with efficiency. As I continue to contribute to SATS, my goal is to leverage my experience to enhance user interaction, streamline design processes, and create immersive, interactive experiences.

Experience

SATS

Project Manager and Designer

January 2025 - Present (3 months)

Oslo, Norge

During my internship at SATS, I took on the role of Project Manager and Designer, leading a team in managing a project provided by the company. I was initially hired as a designer but quickly transitioned into a project management role under the guidance of senior team members. This experience allowed me to be involved in the entire project process, from conception to completion, honing my skills in both design and project management.
